

No additional specialist studies were conducted, as none were deemed necessary at this stage.